Award-Winning
Vegan Soul Food!

THE LAND OF KUSH STORY

The Land of Kush launched in 2004 at a Jazzy Summer Nights festival. The underestimated vegan soul food sold out within an hour. This was a test of market viability. In 2011, our first brick and mortar opening, we served our first celebrity, Russell Simmons, worked with the American Heart Association, and was featured on and in several news outlets. In 2014, we served our second celebrity...Stevie Wonder...two days in a row! Within five years, The Land of Kush was an award-winning restaurant not just within the vegan scene but across the restaurant industry.
